

Assessing Relationship Patterns:

DIRECTIONS: Check the box (or boxes) in each numbered line that best describes the patterns of behavior seen in the relationship between you and your partner. (Each line is reflective of a description of agape love¹ as given in I-Cor 13.)

Column-1 Column-2 Column-3 Column-4

- 1. Patience—self-control under difficult circumstances, slow to become resentful
 Patience in conflicts Conflicts strain patience Yelling during conflicts Abuse or violence during conflicts
- 2. Kindness—patience put into practice, actively patient
 Stays nice during trials Trials strain kindness Meanness during conflict Emotionally abusive during conflicts
- 3. Does not Envy—is not jealous or self-serving
 Supportive, empowering Praises given, usually Unsupportive of goals Controlling, goals are blocked
- 4. Does not Boast—is not intellectually prideful
 Humble-mindedness Some “one upmanship” Attitudes of superiority Arrogance, belittling of one another
- 5. Is not Proud—is not puffed up, inflated or arrogant
 Humble-spiritedness Difficult to admit faults Poor listening, parental No listening, active discounting
- 6. Is not Rude—is not inappropriate, unmannerly
 Politeness during conflicts Sometimes poor manners Outright rudeness Verbally/emotionally assaultive
- 7. Is not Self-Seeking—is not self-aborbed or self-important
 Puts the other first Sometimes self-serving Usually self-serving Cares only for self, resents other
- 8. Is not Easily Angered—not quickly offended
 Anger is not a pattern Angry upsets handled ok Anger is a pattern Angry fits and/or physical abuse
- 9. Keeps no Record of Wrongs—no score-keeping Forgiveness is the norm Offenses resolve okay Grudges are the norm Hatred over past offenses
- 10. Handling of Evil—wants no part in other people’s wrong-doing
 Protection from evil(doers) Occasional compromises Evil behavior is okay Participation in evil acts demanded
- 11. Handling of Truth—relationship is open and honest, truthfulness is celebrated
 Safe to be honest Honesty is usually okay Very little openness The truth is hidden, secret-keeping
- 12. Always Protects—the relationship shields from emotional harm, provides emotional safety
 Emotionally freeing, safe Usually emotionally safe Emotionally at-risk, scary Emotionally harmful, injurious
- 13. Always Trusts—it is safe to maintain faith in the other person in a loving relationship
 Freedom from control Benefit of doubt is norm Suspensions are the norm Aggressive controlling environment
- 14. Always Hopes—there is reason (a basis) for optomism in a loving relationship
 Other seen in positive light 2nd chances are the norm Other is seen in neg. light Constant criticism and negativity
- 15. Always Perseveres—stands firm, doesn’t give up
 Reliable, durable relation. Gets up and tries again Quit trying in relationship Never really did try

Scores: Add the totals checked above in each column and then check the box below that best averages your answers:

Total-1=	Total-2=	Total-3=	Total-4=
<input type="checkbox"/> Love as defined in 1Cor 13 <input type="checkbox"/> The accepted “norm” <input type="checkbox"/> Relationship is in trouble <input type="checkbox"/> Relationship is in crisis

¹ Adaptations of the treatment found in the “New International Bible Commentary” of the above mentioned Bible passage were made by Lance Echo-Hawk, MA